LEGISLATIVE UPDATE

August 26, 2010

The State House is quiet now. Soon after Labor Day, the pace for political activity will intensify. Local legislators will be out going door to door to meet voters. Already we are seeing some early advertising by the gubernatorial candidates. There are five candidates running for the office; two from the major political parties and three independents.

This is an important election; voters will decide who will occupy the Blaine House for the next four years. The Chief Executive will confront continued fiscal issues and new legislative leadership in both the House and Senate.

The Maine Beer and Wine Distributors have been hosting meetings with the candidates to become informed on their platforms and plans for the future. Each individual brings unique strengths and ideas to the race. We strongly encourage you to do the same; attend a forum to hear the candidates speak or research their positions on issues important to you and your family.

In the meantime, enjoy Labor Day – have fun with your family and friends; remember to be safe and responsible.
